

BATHTIME FOR BUB

A new concept in bathing babies has been developed – the TummyTub.

Although babies are familiar with warm water, they do not feel comfortable when being bathed in a traditional bath because the space is not confined enough.

Being in the water with only their back warm and the possibility of cooling to soon makes the babies feel uncomfortable.

This new tub – which can be used from birth to two years – is endorsed by physicians, midwives and nursery nurses. The product was conceived in the Netherlands and designed by childcare experts to ease the transition from the comfort of the mother's womb.
